The Daily Union Vedette.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1865.

Tragedy and Farce.

We are in the habit of seeing on the mimic stage the bloodiest dramas followed by most absurd comedy, but the actors are usually changed and those who are killed off in the first performance seldom re-appear as clowns in the afterpiece. Your genuine Richards and Macbeths are wont to enact their proper character to the last and then die as becomes them. Except on great occasions they are exceedingly averse to being resurrected for the purpose of assuming the role of the low comedian. Only second rate performers ever consent to such a surrender of the unities—"stars" always insist on keeping up appearances.

The tragedy of treason, however, has been no mock performance. It opened its true, with much pretension on the part of those who framed the piece, but it must be confessed they have sustained the characters they undertook to represent with a fearful fidelity to villainy seldom or never before witnessed. If they have signally failed in some particulars, in others they as far exceeded ordinary belief of what was possible in the perfection of human depravity. What they have fallen short in success has been more than made up in malignancy of intent.

But we had a right to expect that a piece, composed with such infinite pains and intended as a first class tragedy, should not be allowed to degenerate incessantly into broad farce without due notice of the change. It has a tendency to confuse the audience, who hardly have time to recover from the mingled horror and triumph of what they thought the closing scene, when up goes the curtain again and lo! the Catiline of the play, the very Lucifer of rebellion, who was supposed to have promptly gone and hung himself to a palmetto tree, reappears upon the stage, but O, ye Gods! in what a plight. Satan is no longer an Arch-angel—never was disenchantment more complete. We saw him flit from the back-door of Richmond with the haughty air of chivalry just a little demoralized, a fugitive traitor, but still defiant; the scene shifts and he reappears at Irwinstown, haunted by the shade of the murdered Lincoln, and trying to escape from his pursuers under cover of his wife's petticoats—in the absurd disguise of an old woman. Really the thing is so perfectly ridiculous that features, but now blank with unutterable horror at what was witnessed in the preceding scene, relax into a broad grin, and there is a general disposition to explode in laughter.

Think of Jeff, the chivalrous, on his throne in Richmond, scorning any terms short of perfect triumph to treason and then of the craven thing that attempts to steal forth from his wife's tent, at Irwinstown, with the stoop of decrepit age and in the trailing garments of a woman—hiding from his crimes under his wife's petticoat! Was there ever anything more sublimely ludicrous? And thus ends the great tragedy—truly there is but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous.

On Tuesday we noticed a group of "Blue-coats" in the streets, the last arrival from Camp Douglas. They were men who have served their time in the "gallant Third" and have now come to Montana on their own account. They are welcome—good of the sort, and the sort good.—Montana Post.

Mrs. Gen. Sherman and Mrs. Stephen A. Douglas have consented to take charge of the Roman Catholic department of the North-western Sanitary Fair soon to be held in Chicago.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY VEDETTE.]

New York, May 21st.

A special to the World, from Washington the 21st, says: The detention of Jeff. Davis at Fortress Monroe, is in expectation that some time will elapse before all the evidence of his complicity in the assassination conspiracy is collected, and he will, in all probability, be indicted for treason by the Grand Jury sitting at Alexandria.

A special to the Tribune, from Washington 21st, says: Sheridan left for Texas last evening. It is understood he has authority to collect such troops as may be available in the Western Department and transfer them to Galveston, thence march on to Kirby Smith's forces. His entire cavalry force passed by his window at Willard's yesterday afternoon, as a tribute of respect to their chieftain. On Saturday evening he was serenaded, and when called upon for a speech, merely said, he had been so long in the service that he had no time to make a speech maker of himself, which he regretted for the sake of this occasion.

President Johnson, in granting a respite to the Indiana conspirators, said: It was only carrying out the purpose of Mr. Lincoln, and must not be taken as a precedent.

Fred. Seward has had his wounds dressed again without any apprehended hemorrhage; his condition is considered favorable.

Gen. F. Blair is urged for a place in the Cabinet, while his brother, Montgomery, is also urged for the War Department.

A special to the Herald says: The new amnesty proclamation will apply to all who do not avail themselves of President Lincoln's, and will be more strict in its provisions.

Cincinnati, May 22d.

Nashville dispatches record the capture of the rebel Gen. Harris, of Tennessee, and $600,000 belonging to the State Treasury. The archives and all the state bonds have been captured.

A published correspondence between Gov. Brownlow and the officials of the Chattanooga Railroad, shows the rolling stock of the road in good repair at Augusta, including twenty-five locomotives. The road to Atlanta will be completed on about the 1st of June.

An Indianapolis dispatch says: About twenty Indiana regiments will be mustered out within two weeks.

New York, May 22d.

The Post's special says: The counsel for the prisoners in the conspiracy trial, have summoned about 200 witnesses. The city is crowded to overflowing by persons to witness the review.

The average pay due each soldier is $250, and the Government is ready to pay off and discharge every man in both armies.

Sheridan goes to Texas with orders to destroy and lay waste, if the rebel forces persist in holding out.

The North Carolina delegation are having satisfactory interviews with the President, who is understood to adhere strictly to the total abolition of slavery, as the condition precedent to the restoration of civil power in the State.

Mail matter is now received at our postoffice daily for Richmond, Petersburg, Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah and Jacksonville.

The Commercial's special says: A number of important witnesses for the prosecution arrived here last night. The expectation that the trial will terminate this week, will scarcely be realized. The defense will be formidable. Reverdy Johnson will chiefly occupy himself with rebutting evidence to the testimony implicating Jeff Davis and the Richmond leaders.

It is believed the capture of the rebel archives will furnish much information about the conspiracy.

The Express's special says: The President is very indignant at the conduct of Cuban officials respecting the rebel ram Stonewall, and a dispatch has been sent to Madrid upon the subject.

The Tribune's special says: A report of the special commission sent to examine charges against Gens. Banks and Hurlbut, is said to be very damaging to their characters as officers and gentlemen, and fully justifies the removal of both.

Gen. Logan has been assigned to the command of the army of Tennessee. Gen. Hazen succeeds Logan in command of the 15th corps.

New York, May 22d.

Gen. Sheridan and staff, who arrived in this city to-day, left this evening for Cincinnati, on their way to the south west, having been appointed to command the Department of Texas. He will immediately assume control of the troops now in the south west, together with such additional cavalry forces as the exigencies of the service may require to be placed at his disposal, the cavalry formerly commanded by Sheridan, will be under Gen. Merritt, during the coming review, in the absence of Gen. Crook. It is understood that Gen. Custer and Merritt will join Sheridan in the west.

The Tribune says, it is stated the Government has recently obtained a private letter of Jeff. Davis, clearly implicating him in the assassination conspiracy.

The Herald says, Gen. Sickles was officially received on the 15th ult., by the President of Columbia, as special envoy to the Government of that Republic from the President of the United States. A number of Columbian Senators, Representatives and military men, were present on the occasion and addresses were made by Gen. Sickles and the President in which the most friendly feelings of each Government for each other were expressed.

St. Louis, May 22d.

The Department at Head Quarters, have received dispatches from Fort Scott, Kansas, announcing the surrender of Col. Taylor, commander of all the guerrillas in southwest Missouri and northwest Arkansas. The rolls of his entire command are now being made out. They surrendered all their horses, arms and equipments, and will take the oath. Bushwhackers are also coming into Lexington, Glassgow and other places delivering themselves up and taking the oath. The prospects are that bushwhacking will soon close in Missouri.

Washington, May 22d.

The President has issued a proclamation, opening all southern ports, except those in Texas, to foreign commerce and after July first, declares that foreign vessels attempting to trade illegally will be treated as pirates; also removing the trade restrictions east of the Mississippi.

THE FAIRFIELD ROBBERY.—Some ten days ago, the treasury of Solano county, California, was robbed of several thousand dollars. A reward was offered for the detection of the robber and the recovery of the stolen money. From the Solano Herald of the 12th, we learn that John Jerrell, County Treasurer, has been presented by a special Grand Jury for embezzlement of the same.

THERE is a man out West who claims to cure diseases by laying on hands. That is nothing marvelous. We have ourself, says the editor of the Bangor Whig, when young, been cured of moral obliquities by the laying on of the parental hand—severely.—Ex.

Wonder if the Western man could remove polygamic disease?

AN ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

BY A RESIDENT OF UTAH.

ARTICLE 25.

Before the actual wealth placed at the command of Brigham Young can, with any degree of correctness, be adjudged, it will be necessary to form an estimate of the number and wealth of his subjects from whom that wealth has been derived, and to make such subtraction from the aggregate as the researches and computations to be made shall warrant. I propose entering upon the task, but in doing so, wish it to be distinctly understood that I make no pretensions to figure with unerring accuracy, nor to give a minute detail of his actual income from church sources; this would be a perplexing and hopeless task, even with the use of all the church records, made out incorrectly as they are,—without them, an obvious impossibility. My extensive acquaintance with the monetary system of the church and its supporters, will, nevertheless, enable me to approximate sufficiently near to a just estimate to give the reader a tolerably correct general idea of the subject.

During the first year of the occupancy of Utah by the Brigamite fraternity, the condition of the people's finances was such that it would hardly be fair to notice the contributions to the church coffers made in that period—the amount then paid will make up for deficiencies at subsequent periods. My computation will embrace the amount paid from the 1st of January, 1849, to the 31st of December, 1864, a period of sixteen years.

For the first three of the period there were but few, probably not more than four tenths of the adult male population of Utah who paid their full titbings. During the first two of the succeeding four years owing to the rigor used in enforcing the law, the non-payers were a very unimportant numerical minority, not exceeding one twentieth part of the tithe-eligible portion of the Utah church; during the remaining two of the four, they probably increased to a tenth part. The two subsequent years, the years of the famous "Reformation," it would have been difficult to find in the whole Territory one hundred members of the church who did not passively submit to the most strenuous application of the law. Had all been permitted to live whose feelings were opposed to it, they might and would have exceeded this number; but the practice of giving a terminating quietus to its opponent, served the double purpose of forever silencing the fractious and intimidating the unwilling into submission. Owing to the migration south in the year following, the titbings fell considerably short, though many responded after their return to the call to "pay up for the lost time." In 1859, the fund swelled considerably, though it did not again reach its former proportions, and with some slight variations has continued ever since in the condition it then attained, which is about sixty per cent on that considered due. But those proportions are rapidly contracting now, especially in G. S. L. City, "Gentile" and military presence have a very perceptible influence over this priest-ridden and oppressed people. But as these articles treat of the subject in hand to a no later period than the close of 1864, the reference just made to the existing state of church finance is intended merely as an index of the times, pointing the disaffected and ensnaked ones to the liberating mediums on whose aid they may rely, whenever they shall be prepared to throw off the weighty incubus that has for so many years kept them behind the progressive civilization of the age, and sunk them beneath the level of the Sons of Liberty elsewhere.

BY "ONE OF THE CHIVALRY."

The following notice was found posted on the door of W. A. Ackerman, our Agent in Prickly Pear City:

"Glory enough for one time!
Old Abe has gone to Hell!
Hurrah for Jeff. Davis!
Grand Reception of Old Abe in Hell!
Big Dinner!
The Devil's Band played 'Welcome the Chief!'"

We consider the above production to be the finest defense of Union principles that was ever written. We think that the most ardent secessionist, out of a madhouse, will consider it time to shake his skirts clear from contact with the animated carrion that penned this able, many and elevating manifesto. There will ever be some questionable forms of life, bearing the outward shape of humanity, engendered by the festering of corruption and feeding on rottenness, like those crawling and writhing vermin that we saw revelling on the putrid carcasses of beasts of burden. Is this an exponent of the rank and file of secession? We expect that Southern men will take this in hand, ferret out this brutal defamer and punish him. One advice we give him, and that is to ask mercy of God for his soul; for if discovered, in the dunghill he may make his home—man will have none on his body.

THE CONTRAST.

We present to our readers the following admirable letter to Mrs. Lincoln. It was passed in the shape of a resolution at a meeting of the Union men of Prickly Pear City. This is Union feeling, and the natural and logical consequence of correct sentiment and true patriotism. The constitution of the minds of men varies in individuals; yet we should think that the choice between the two sets of principles which are here represented by their legitimate manifestations, would not be hard to make:

PRICKLY PEAR CITY,

Jefferson Co. M. T. April 29, 1865.

MRS. ABRAHAM LINCOLN:
DEAR MADAM:—We have learned with feelings of horror of your and our country's sad affliction, and we well know by experience how cold and icy to the crushed and bleeding soul are the tenderest words of sympathy; it is so terrible for us to say "Thy will be done."

Although living in the Mountain wilds, so far from the loved ones at home, and surrounded by those who sympathize with the traitors and assassins of our beloved country, still we mourn with those who mourn, and weep with those who weep, in this terrible, blasting visitation—shall we say of God's Providence? How hard, how seemingly cruel in the noontime of greatness and honor, thus to blast a Nation's idol; yet the still, silent voice sayeth, "Peace, be still, and know that I am God."

The Great and the Good of the earth will surround your late husband's name with a halo of glory, and WASHINGTON and LINCOLN will be lispied in unison by every tongue of nations yet unborn.

We therefore tender you our warmest sympathy in this terrible bereavement, and pray God in his mercy and wisdom to comfort and sustain you to the end of this weary pilgrimage.

A. ACKERMAN,
J. G. CROOKS,
JOSEPH HARPER,
And thirty-two others.

JEFF. LOSES HIS CARRIAGE.—Jeff Davis' carriage, built for him three years ago in New Orleans at an expense of $3,000, was among our captures at Richmond. It was taken to the Danville depot, but there was no room for it, and then it was run up against one of the walls to burn; but by some good fortune it was rescued, though in a slightly damaged condition. It is in good running order, however, and with a few repairs it will again be quite a stylish vehicle. The pair of bay horses that he used to drive were run out of the city, together with all the other live stock.

Local Matters.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Miller, of Sacramento, on his way eastward, fell in with Lieut. Honeyman's detachment to Denver, and spoke in the highest terms of their good conduct along the road. He used his money very freely for their benefit on the way, considering them, as he said, an honor to California. We are reminded, by this circumstance, that Mr. Miller was the only man in California who thought of our wounded fellows, in the way of pecuniary liberality, after the battle of Bear River, when sanitary subscriptions were so profuse and fashionable in that State. He did not forget those of her military family who were suffering, in looking for worthy objects of generosity, and we think the fact is one properly to be remembered.

THE members of the Y. M. L. Association, in S. L. City, have reason for congratulation that they have among their members gentlemen of such integrity, intelligence and moral worth as the officers below named, whom they have elected for the present year: Hon. John Titus, President; Howard Livingston, Esq., Vice President; Samuel Dean, Secretary; W. C. Phelps, Assistant Secretary, and Samuel Kahn, Treasurer.

At the meeting of the association, on Monday evening last, the members were honored with eloquent speeches by Judge Saunders, of Montana, and other able speakers.

ARRIVED.—Lieut. Honeyman and detachment have arrived safely at Deaver, but after much tribulation. He does not speak very favorably of the efficiency of the Overland Stage service in that direction, nor of the care of the company for the convenience of passengers. They are kept, according to the Lieutenant's representation, nearly at the starvation point, there being no provisions made along the road for the trifling matter of subsistence. (Can't there be a little improvement made in this respect?—somebody try.)

WHAT HE WOULD DO.—The Stockton Independent, in an article on Gen. Lee, remarks:

In all ages your stern, honest soldier has been the blind instruments of your wily, scoundrelly politician—the lion led by the fox and tumbled blindfold into the pit. We are not going to apologise for General Lee's conduct in this respect, or to beg the Government and people to be merciful to the fallen soldier because we believe him personally honest, truthful and brave. On the contrary, if we had our way omnipotent, we should make such an example of this man as would be very apt in the long future, to induce military men to reflect well before blindly following theiving demagogues into the hurly-burly of rebellion. We should hang him as high as Haman and with as little pity as we would kill a snake or a mad dog.

CHILD POISONED.—The Nevada Transcript of May 13th says: Charles Hall, a son of Wilkes Hall, who resides on Bush creek, was poisoned by nitric acid yesterday noon. Three bottles were kept upon a shelf in the room—one containing whisky, another alcohol and a third nitric acid. The miners who stopped at the house were in the habit of taking a dram when they came in at noon. Yesterday, the child, in imitation of their custom, drank from one of the bottles a swallow of liquid, and was so severely afflicted that Dr. Bates was sent for, when it was discovered that the boy had drank from the bottle containing the acid. The child is in a critical condition, and little hope is entertained that it will recover.

THE ATCHISON CHAMPION SAYS: "A correspondent in Doniphan county furnishes us an account of a remarkable feat of nature. In one man's family, the wife had twins, a boy and a girl; the mare had a colt; the cow twin calves, a heifer and bull; the sow, eleven pigs; the hen hatched out thirteen chickens; and two ewes had four lambs. The above, remarkable as it may appear, is an absolute fact. It demonstrates to the world what a prolific State Kansas is."

HENRY HEYNEMAN, who, at the commencement of the rebellion made a row that when our armies captured Richmond he would walk the whole distance from Boston to Washington, and carry an American flag, started on his pedestrian tour on Monday last, at 8 A. M., from the steps of the State House, in Boston. A beautiful silk flag has been presented to him by Mayor Lincoln, in behalf of that city.
